

Fashion DIET

Authors: Prof. Dr. Anne-Marie Grundmeier
Kim Frank (Stud. päd.)
Contact Data: University of Education Freiburg
Institute of Everyday Culture, Sports and Health
E-mail: grundmeier@ph-freiburg.de

Hochschule Reutlingen
Reutlingen University

Co-funded by the European Union

Textile Quartet – Overview

Categories	Card 1 (A)	Card 2 (B)	Card 3 (C)	Card 4 (D)
1. Textile Segments	1.1. Clothing	1.2. Home Textiles	1.3. Technical Textiles	1.4. Textile Toys
2. Fibres	2.1. Plant Fibres	2.2. Animal Fibres	2.3. Man-made Cellulosic Fibres	2.4. Synthetic Fibres
3. Yarns	3.1 Spun Yarns	3.2. Monofilament Yarns	3.3. Multifilament Yarns	3.4. Assembled Yarns
4. Spinning Processes (Man-made Fibres)	4.1 Wet Spinning Process	4.2 Dry Spinning Process	4.3 Melt Spinning Process	4.4 Lyocell Process
5. Textile Fabrics	5.1. Woven Fabrics	5.2. Knitted Fabrics	5.3. Nonwoven Fabrics	5.4. Transparent and Open-work Fabrics, Laces, Nets
6. Textile Finishing	6.1. Pretreatment	6.2. Colouring	6.3 Textile Finishing	6.4. Coating and Lamination
7. Textile Labels	7.1. Health Protection	7.2 Natural Fibre Labels	7.3. Social Sustainability	7.4 Sustainable Production
8. Apprenticeships (based on the German vocational system)	8.1. Apprenticeships in the fashion sector	8.2. Apprenticeships in the textile sector	8.3. School-based apprenticeships in the fashion and textile sector	8.4. Further training opportunities in the fashion and textile sector